ALL QUIET AT AIRPORT TERMINAL

Kelowna Airport ticket agent John Currie wasn't exactly swamped with customers this morning as a nation-wide strike by air traffic controllers shut down commercial air traffic across Canada at 1 a.m. today. The seven local members of the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association have been placed on laid-off status and the shutdown will freeze four PWA flights a day in and out of Kelowna Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday, as well as two flights daily for the balance of the week. The strike will not affect non-commercial flights or the operation of the airport weather office. (Courier photo).

Parliament May Halt Air Strike

Smooth Takeover Seen By Moores

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Frank Moores appears headed for a smooth takeover of the Newfoundland premier's office Tuesday when Joseph R. Smallwood's Liberals are scheduled to resign after almost 23 years in power.

The last known hitch to formation of the province's first Progressive Conservative administration since Confederation in 1949 was removed Sunday night when Tom Burgess, New Labrador Party leader, finally made up his mind to sit alone.

Mr. Burgess, who promised after the Oct. 28 provincial election to support the PCs in forming a government, changed his mind last week and for a period was considering switching his legislative vote to the Liberals.

But Mr. Burgess said Sunday night he would not oppose formation of a Conservative government and would sit as a New Labrador Party member.

"I will vote as my conscience dictates," he said in reference to individual pieces of legislation and issues.

PCs HAVE 21 SEATS
The election gave the Conservatives 21 seats, the Liberals 20 and the NLP the Labrador West seat.

Premier Smallwood delayed his government's resignation to await the outcome of a series of recounts and legal moves arising from the accidental burning of 105 ballots from St. Barbe South election night.

He announced his intention to resign after two Newfoundland Supreme Court judges ruled a Conservative was elected in the northwest coast district.

Mr. Burgess told a news conference Saturday he would withdraw support of the Conservatives because Mr. Moores had refused to live up to promises given him after the election.

The NLP leader said these promises included a cabinet post, gasoline tax exemptions for Labrador residents, more roads and better medical services for the residents of the province's mainland sector.

Sunday night he telephoned a statement to city newspapers, outlining his decision to sit under his party's banner and reaffirming his decision to withdraw support of the PCs.

He admitted in a subsequent interview that he had held discussions last week with some Liberals but declined to name them.

Last Minute Meeting Fails Halting Commercial Traffic

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament may possibly be recalled to order striking air traffic controllers back to work, a spokesman for Transport Minister Don Jamieson said today.

"There is a possibility," the spokesman said, "but goodness knows what the morrow will bring."

He said that if there is a prolonged halt to all air traffic, Parliament had a responsibility to step in.

J. R. Campbell, president of the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association, has already expressed concern about the possibility of an order by Parliament to resume work.

OTTAWA (CP) — Air traffic controllers went on strike at four a.m. E.S.T. today, grounding nearly all flights within Canada.

The walkout went ahead as scheduled despite negotiations by representatives of the federal treasury board and the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association.

Hoping to beat the strike deadline, the two sides met with a mediator almost to the last minute but were unable to reach a settlement of their three-month contract dispute.

J. R. (Dick) Campbell, president of the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association, said at 3:15 a.m. E.S.T.: "We are going on strike because we have no contract."

Mediator Noel Hall, saying that substantial progress had been made in three days of intensive bargaining, said contract talks will resume this afternoon.

MOST TRAFFIC STOPS
Commercial air traffic is all but shut off by the strike. As the result of an agreement between the union and the government, however, 136 controllers are to remain on the job.

Emergency and northern supply flights are to continue and the union has agreed to handle mercy flights to remote locations.

In return, the controllers are to be supplied with cargo manifests. The provisions apply specifically to airports at Edmonton, Winnipeg and Goose Bay, Labrador.

Many air travellers attempted to beat the strike by advancing their reservations to Sunday from later in the week. Ottawa International Airport was crowded Sunday night by those hoping to obtain standby seating.

In Vancouver, Pacific Western Airlines applied to the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to land charter flights from Europe at Seattle or Grand Falls, Mont. The airline has about 250 charter passengers in Europe.

Bus And Private Carriers Report Upswing In Business

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bus, rail and private air carriers report an upswing in business today in the wake of the air traffic controllers' strike.

CP Rail said it is adding a second, third and fourth train, two sleeping cars and a coach to its daily Canadian run east, providing space for an additional 100 passengers.

Meanwhile, CNR reported it had to bring in extra people to handle phone requests for space. A company spokesman said the Super Continental, which normally isn't operating to capacity at this time of year, sold out its sleeping car accommodation and has added two more sleepers for its trip east.

He said CNR's piggyback freights should have no problem handling the influx in cargo.

Greyhound Bus Lines put on two extra buses heading south to Seattle and an additional unit each into the Kootenays and the

Border Airports To Be Used

Earlier, U.S. authorities refused Canadian Pacific Air permit to move its base for overseas operations to Seattle from Vancouver during the strike.

Among the casualties of the strike may be the National Hockey League schedule. A league spokesman said Sunday that games will be postponed if a team is unable to make an appearance. Canadian clubs likely would have to travel by bus to the nearest over-the-border airport to get to their games.

U.S. airlines with flights into Canada have made arrangements to fly passengers to the border airports and transfer passengers to Canadian destinations by bus.

Meanwhile, flights between New York and Europe which normally are guided partly across the Atlantic by the Canadian controllers are to be rerouted by way of the Azores and Spain.

Anticipating the failure of the last-minute negotiations, Air Canada cancelled two flights out of Vancouver Sunday night because they would not reach eastern Canada destinations before the deadline.

WAGES ARE KEY
Wages remain as the key unresolved issue in the dispute.

The 1,600 controllers now earn a maximum of $14,600 a year, with supervisors receiving up to $18,000.

The union argues the rates are well below those for other workers with similar or even lighter responsibilities in the aviation industry. It originally demanded a 50-per-cent increase in a two-year contract and its representatives on a conciliation board recommended a 22-per-cent raise in a 27-month pact.

For its part, the treasury board still has to accept publicly the majority recommendation of the conciliation report for a 15.5-per-cent increase over 27 months.

NEWS IN A MINUTE

Police Investigate Slaying

MONTREAL (CP) — Police are investigating the death of Marcel Lafontaine, 30, a nightclub doorman who was shot to death at a night club in the northeast end Sunday night. Police said Lafontaine was shot twice by an unknown assailant inside the Cafe Flip. No arrests have been made.

Strike Won't Affect NHL

MONTREAL (CP) — A strike by Canada's air traffic controllers will have no immediate effect on the National Hockey League schedule, a league spokesman said today. All three Canadian NHL teams—Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs and Vancouver Canucks—are within easy reach of United States airports.

Forces Must Surrender Arms

DACCA (Reuters)—Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman today ordered all members of the Bangladesh freedom forces to surrender their arms within 10 days. Possession of weapons by anyone after this time will be illegal, he said.

U.S. West Coast Dockers Resume Their Strike Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — resumed when the Longshoremen resumed a strike at 24 United States West Coast ports today after negotiators failed to reach a settlement. Negotiation sessions broke off but the union said they would resume later.

The first orders to picketing came at San Francisco and Los Angeles beach harbors after a deadline expired.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, emerged from sessions through the night to say the strike would continue at 8 a.m. this morning.

"The strike officials exerted all efforts at this time to try to break the strike off but they have failed," Bridges said.

Rhodesian Cops Ripped By Mob

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — African mobs set fire to and wrecked beerhalls in sections of the industrial city of Gwelo during the night, apparently in anticipation of the arrival today of the British commission weighing public opinion toward the agreement between the British and Rhodesian governments.

The rioting lasted until 4 a.m. No deaths were reported, but a number of Africans were believed injured by rampaging crowds.

116 AIRPORTS CLOSED

Other Modes Of Travel Sought

The strike started at 4 a.m. E.S.T. Talks between the federal treasury board and the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association were to resume at 3 p.m.

The 116 airports across the country have practically shut down. Some of the major airlines were scrambling to arrange alternate passage for many of the 27,000 persons daily who fly on commercial flights in Canada.

BUSES EMPLOYED
In southern Ontario, for example, companies were chartering buses to take passengers to airports in Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N.Y. Flights were being scheduled from the American points and others were landing there.

Some of the Arctic points affected were Fort Chipewyan in northern Alberta, Uranium City in northern Saskatchewan and Inuvik, Norman Wells, Cambridge Bay, Resolute Bay and Wrigley.

"We don't know how they stand at the moment but it's obvious that food supplies will dwindle," said "the Pacific Western" spokesman.

He said his firm had put the 500 employees on leave of absence without pay for the duration of the strike. They included 145 maintenance men, 100 flight crew employees and more than 100 customer service personnel.

A spokesman for the Canadian National Railways said no additional trains or cars were needed immediately "but that could change at any time."

In some areas, small aircraft were operating. However, at Mount Hope, near Hamilton, even they were grounded when winds whipped up to more than 30 miles an hour.

All but 136 of the 1,600 controllers left their jobs. The 136, by agreement, will stay on the job to meet emergency situations.

China Purges Supporters Of Defence Minister Piao

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Chinese authorities are purging suspected supporters of Defence Minister Lin Piao and more than two dozen army officers have tried to flee the country, a usually reliable source said in Hong Kong today.

Lin Piao, who also is vice-chairman of the central committee of the Chinese Communist party and named in the Chinese constitution as heir to Chairman Mao Tse-tung, has not been mentioned since Oct. 8, 1971, the usually reliable source said. "They were uniforms and carried arms," the source added. "They made for the border at Shum Chun (close to Hong Kong) but were arrested by border guards because they were not in possession of the usual travel documents."

"All these officers were arrested as supporters of Lin Piao and subsequently brought to trial." Some were said to be colonels.

Another three senior army officers attempted to escape in October but were arrested and found to be in possession of forged identity and travel documents, the source said.

Another four senior army officers from Shanghai went to Canton and commandeered an army vehicle to try to reach the Hong Kong border, the source said, but they were stopped by an army patrol and arrested.

In another development, two persons, including an army officer, were executed in late November at the town of Sai Po Ling after a public trial, the source said. The officer was accused of being a supporter of Lin Piao and of leaking secret military information.

British Columbia two and Newfoundland and Alberta one plane—all in traffic.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan were fatality-free.

The 26 weekend traffic deaths, plus 38 in the previous week, brought the number of persons killed on Canadian roads since Jan. 1 to at least 119.

Since the start of the season Nov. 1, at least 48 persons have died in snowmobile accidents.

The survey does not include industrial accidents, slayings or known suicides.

Two men killed in the Greater Vancouver area were the only reported traffic fatalities in British Columbia during the weekend.

Herbert John McAllister, 54, of Aldergrove, B.C., died Saturday when his car skidded out of control on a highway near Vancouver. McAllister was alone in the car at the time.

The only other fatality reported from other parts of the province was David Thomas Daves, 20, of Burnaby, B.C., killed in a two-car head-on collision late Friday night in Vancouver.

Marilyn Westman, 20, of Vancouver, the driver of the other car, was taken to hospital with a broken leg.

Nov. Scotia had four deaths, Prince Edward Island three,

Trapped Train Is Freed

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — A CNR passenger train and its 14-man crew, trapped by snowslides for almost 60 hours, returned to this city Sunday night after snow plows had cleared the line.

The train, with 24 passengers aboard in addition to the crew, left Prince Rupert early Friday for Jasper, Alta., but was halted by snowslides about midway between Prince Rupert and Terrace, 90 miles to the east. The train was trapped when snowslides thundered down behind it.

The passengers were airlifted out Saturday by a transport department helicopter that used the frozen surface of the nearby Skeena River as a landing strip. There were no injuries.

Meanwhile, a railway spokesman said no decision had been reached about getting passengers to their destinations. They were to remain in Prince Rupert until weather conditions along the rail line became less severe or other transportation arrangements were made.

Snowslides in several areas were expected to close the CNR line between Prince Rupert and Smithers for most of this week.

Rose Is Among Seven Injured

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Rose was one of seven prisoners injured during a one-hour revolt at detention cells in Quebec Provincial Police headquarters Sunday, the assistant director of the Quebec detention service said today.

Pierre Garpey said Rose, awaiting trial for the October 1970 murder and kidnap of Pierre Laporte, then Quebec labor minister, was taken to hospital for examination.

None of the prisoners was seriously injured and all were returned to their cells after a brief stay in hospital.

Mr. Garpey said Rose was injured by broken glass from windows smashed by some of the 60 prisoners in the centre's recreation rooms, and in a scuffle with police trying to restrain him.

Iron Duke Of Hockey Dies

VICTORIA (CP) — Gordon Blanchard Keats, the Iron Duke of professional hockey and a member of Hockey's Hall of Fame, died here Sunday. He was 76.

Keats, considered one of the game's greatest stickhandlers, had been in poor health for several years.

Born March 21, 1895 in Montreal, he began his hockey career at 14 in the cobalt mining league in Northern Ontario. At 17 he turned professional with Toronto of the National Hockey Association and later played in Edmonton, Chicago, Detroit, Tulsa, Boston and Victoria.

His playing career was interrupted by the First World War when Keats went overseas with the 238th Sportsman's Battalion. Returning in 1919, he moved west to Edmonton and assisted in organizing the Western Canada League.

A centre, Keats is best remembered for his stickhandling. He had an uncanny ability for controlling the puck and many hockey oldtimers recall Keats because of a feat that has become a hockey legend. Playing centre for Edmonton Eskimos in the early 20s, Keats reputedly picked up the puck and skated backwards the entire length of the rink before scoring a goal against an opposing team.

Other Modes Of Travel Sought

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS
A strike by the country's air traffic controllers today virtually closed down Canada's 116 airports, inconveniencing travellers and causing numerous other problems.

One of the most pressing problems came to light in Edmonton where a spokesman for Pacific Western Airlines said it's possible that a number of remote communities in the Arctic might face a food shortage.

A spokesman for the airline, which placed 500 employees on "leave of absence," said: "At the moment, we don't believe there's any way into these communities by air."

The strike started at 4 a.m. E.S.T. Talks between the federal treasury board and the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association were to resume at 3 p.m.

JANICE AND MOE RANTUCCI

NORA GEORGE HONORED

MAYOR ROTH AND COLIN CAMPBELL

WALTER GREEN DELIVERS KEYNOTE

Interim Budget Under Last Year

Deleting the amount collected by the city for schools has been mainly responsible for shaving the provisional budget to only $140,000 more than was spent last year, finance director H. K. Hall said today.

Council will be asked today to approve the provisional budget of $7,870,000.

The city will still collect school taxes, he said. But, since education is not a municipal responsibility, it will not be included in the budget as in the past. Last year $1.6 million was collected for schools.

The exceptional snowfall will not be reflected in the provisional budget, Mr. Hall continued. By the time the final budget is approved in May, the city will have a better idea of what snow removal costs are expected to be this year.

Council must approve a provisional budget in January. This sanctions routine expenses before the final budget is approved.

Last year council approved a provisional budget of $8,630,000, or $760,000 above that asked this year. Council slashed about $900,000 from the final budget, which came to $9,537,000, including education costs.

The provisional budget is the work of city staff members with little, if any, help from council.

Mayor Hilbert Roth declined to say if the decrease could mean holding or even cutting the 69.6 mill rate, but said council realizes the rate must be held down because of inflation. Until new sources of revenue are provided to municipalities, the entire burden of municipal taxation will fall on property owners.

The mayor estimates the city will receive about $100,000 more this year in any case. This will result from an across-the-board assessment jump of 10 per cent on land and 2 1/2 per cent on improvements. The increase was made on the instructions of the B.C. assessment commissioner. The city has no control over assessments.

The provincial official also approved assessment increases of up to 50 per cent on commercial properties in some parts of Kelowna. Special approval was needed because of a 10 per cent limit on individual assessment increases.

Deputy city assessor Nelson Krug said big increases were near the Capri Shopping Centre and the St. Paul Street area.

City officials are believed planning strong protests to Victoria about the "unfair balance between assessments inside and outside the city."

The 1971 rate was 1.6 mills above that for 1970. With a general assessment increase and a $10 boost in the provincial home owner's grant, a person owning a home with a market value of $18,000 paid about $42 more to the city last year.

Schmockey Tension Up

As tension increases between the Media Mobsters and the RCMP Angels prior to the annual Schmockey classic Saturday, a spokesman said today tickets for the event could become scarce "within a day or two."

On sale for $1 at the Music Box on Ellis Street, all tickets for the game in Kelowna and District Memorial Arena are reserved and must be purchased in advance.

This year's contest is the fifth meeting of the two clubs and the city's newsmen will be out to gain back the Trashcan Trophy from the defending RCMP team.

Earlier, an RCMP member reported the trophy stolen from the police barracks and said an all-out search was being conducted.

However, coach Russ Richardson of the Mobsters said he did not believe the trophy is actually missing and accused the RCMP players are only being "over protective."

Weekend Accidents

An estimated $1,000 damage resulted from an accident Sunday afternoon on Third Avenue in Westbank, between vehicles driven by Wade Yoshitaka, of Westbank, and Gregory Breti, of Rutland. There were no injuries.

Early Sunday morning, Mrs. L. A. Turncliff and Rose Luckey, both of Kelowna, received minor injuries when the car in which they were riding was involved in a minor accident at the corner of Glenmore and Harvey Avenue.

Saturday afternoon, an accident on KLO Road involving cars driven by Monty George Sveen and William Jacob Janzen, both of Kelowna, caused about $1,100 damage. There were no injuries.

Another mishap Saturday afternoon, at the corner of Byrns Road and Springfield Road caused about $300 damage to cars driven by William E. McKinney, of Rutland, and Monty De Mara, of Kelowna. There were no injuries.

The weatherman is predicting clouds and a few showers Tuesday, with high temperatures in the low thirties, Saturday's high and low temperatures in the city were 32 and nine degrees, while out at the airport it was 36 and 12 degrees. Sunday in the city it was 29 and 14 and at the airport, 33 and 12 degrees. Lows tonight should be in the low twenties.

Banquet Of Champions Honors Area Athletes

NATIONAL FILM BOARD SHOWS SET UP FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

The first of four programs for senior citizens will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the National Film Board theatre in the federal building.

They are being presented free by the board and the adult education division of School District 23 (Kelowna).

The first program will include a cartoon, The House That Jack Built, a film about fly fishing, Fisherman's Fall, a story of harvesting on the Prairies, and a picture about the use of snow vehicles, Motoneige.

Other programs will be Feb. 1, 15, and 29.

Females Take Top Honors In Sport Prowess And Work

Janice Buchner, a grade 12 student at Rutland Secondary School and called "Miss Everything" by recreation director Jack Brow, was recognized for her athletic prowess and willingness to help in other sports by being awarded the Augie Ciancone Award at the Banquet of Champions Saturday.

More than 70 people attended the dinner to recognize Kelowna and district athletes who are prominent in their field. Athletes invited to the dinner have to have B.C. championships or better.

Janice takes part in nearly all sport activities, but is best noted for track and field (second in B.C. junior girls javelin), grass hockey (on Rutland's third place team in provincials) and swimming.

Janice, who moved to Rutland over two years ago from Revelstoke, is a forward on Rutland senior girls' 'A' Voodoos basketball team and teaches basketball and volleyball to grade six and seven students.

"In her spare time she helps us set up our recreation program," Mr. Brow said. "I was very excited, very honored and pleased to win the award," Miss Buchner said. "I had no idea that I was going to be chosen."

OUTSTANDING The Augie Ciancone Award is presented to the outstanding boy or girl in the school district for athletic ability, contribution to the community and school, department and sportsmanship.

Pole vaulting Dennis Zahara won the award last year.

Green went one step farther, the same as expressed by Mrs. Nora George, recipient of the Bob Giordano Award for an outstanding contribution to the development of organized athletics. Mrs. George is involved with the Kelowna Figure Skating Club.

"I am honored by the award and must thank those who put my name up for consideration," Mrs. George said. "A person works for long enough at something and begins to think that they haven't been appreciated for their efforts."

"I enjoy working with youngsters, and girls especially don't have that much else to do. A few sports help to take up their time," Mrs. George said.

COUNTLESS HOURS Mrs. George was awarded the trophy for her countless hours working with the figure skating club, with an involvement of over seven years, three or four times a week and a couple of hours each session.

She is a director on the club, and is assigned to the senior and intermediate B session, supervising ice time and ice allotments for the figure sessions. She also handles music arrangements for the free skating sessions.

Alderman Walter Green was the guest speaker, and he had accolades for the Kelowna and district recreation department. Following a speech of welcome by Mayor Hilbert Roth, in which the mayor mentioned that Kelowna had one of B.C.'s best recreation departments, all Green went one step farther,

Marriage For Moderns Topic Presented At Weekend Seminar

The whys and wherefores of modern marriage will be examined this weekend during a two-day seminar under the auspices of the Kelowna School District's Adult Education branch.

The seminar is open to those about to be married, to those recently married, to grade 12 students—and to any other interested persons. It will be held in the Kelowna Secondary School Auditorium Friday from 7:30 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon.

Friday's program will centre around the theme, Communication Between Partners and will feature an address by Kelowna psychiatrist, Dr. Ken Davies. Also on the agenda are small discussion groups and a panel discussion between Dr. Davies, Mrs. Duile Hill, R.N., Rev. Charles Mulvihill, Mrs. Mary Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. Olive Gilbert.

On Saturday, the topic will be Sex and Sexuality, with Dr. Frank McNair, director of the Central Okanagan Mental Health Unit, speaking on the Emotional Aspects of Sex. The Physical aspects of sex will be the subject of a film and addresses by Drs. G. N. Stewart and Dr. A. Hignall, who will later join Mrs. Joan Lansdel and Miss Meredith Campbell in a panel discussion.

Chairman of the seminar is John Ross, while Ish Holmes will act as discussion group chairman.

A charge of $3 per couple and $1 each for students will be made. Further information can be obtained from the Adult Education office at 575 Harvey Avenue.

FALSE ALARM A false alarm brought city firemen to Kelowna Secondary School today. This was the second fire call over the weekend. There were four routine ambulance calls since Saturday morning.

CANADIAN DOLLAR NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian dollar up 7-64 at 99 19-32 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling up 15-16 at $2.58 61-64.

Won't Seek New Term

Orchardist G. H. Whittaker will not again seek to be a member of the board of directors of B.C. Tree Fruits and Sun-Rype Products, which he has headed since 1969.

Mr. Whittaker joined the board in 1969.

Other members are vice-president J. E. Duncan, executive member W. B. Powell, J. H. Stuart, Allan Chardoke, R. D. Curtis, Melvin Krawne, S. A. McPherson, F. L. Marshall, and George Urban, with Nigel Lovel representing the fruit

Directors will be chosen during the annual convention of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, which opens Tuesday in Penticton.

Curlers Robbed

Kelowna RCMP are investigating the theft Saturday night of about $190 from the Kelowna Curling Club.

The culprit or culprits apparently took the screws out of a door to the concession booth and made off with $140 in bills, $50 in change and eight cartons of cigarettes. The robbery occurred during the Zone Zips playdowns and the B.C. Tel playdowns.

In another weekend incident, Mr. E. Butler, of Westbank told police Sunday afternoon that someone had broken into his house through the patio doors and stolen several household appliances.

Peter Murdoch Service Today

Funeral services were held today for a native of India who lived in Kelowna 58 years.

Peter Murdoch, 63, of 1618 Mountain Ave., died Friday. He was born in Calcutta, India, and came to Kelowna in 1913.

Having served in the Second World War, he was a member of the Canadian Legion branch here. He also was a member of St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church.

Surviving are his wife Bonney; one son, Bruce in Victoria; one daughter, Mrs. K. A. Salvendy in Burnaby; two grandsons; one brother, Dr. David Murdoch in Vancouver; and one sister, Mrs. R. M. Smythe, Thunder Bay, Ont.

Rev. Canon R. W. S. Brown officiated in St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church with cremation following. The Garden Chapel was in charge.

SNOW JOB OVERHEAD

To prevent, or at least reduce damage, from heavy snows, people should remove as much as possible from roofs. City workmen are seen removing the white stuff from the roof of Sunnyvale School on Bertram Street. Iceles should be knocked down. However, these jobs must be done only by thoroughly experienced people using proper equipment so the roof is not damaged. (Courier photo).

Rec Department Commended

"Kelowna doesn't have one of the best recreation departments, we have the best," he said. "Kelowna is recreation oriented, and can be called champion-rich. The athletes are getting better, too."

"Dedication is the name of the game, and this doesn't only apply to the athletes," Ald. Green said. "Not all coaches are naturals, many just do the job and do it well."

"Leo Durocher (of the Chicago Cubs) once said 'nice guys finish last'; here are a number of guys and girls who have finished first."

"There can be only two winners of these awards, but every year there are many possible winners of both," Ald. Green said.

MEDELLIONS PRESENTED Mayor Roth then handed out medallions to the athletes attending the dinner, one side inscribed with the city's coat of arms and the other with 'Banquet of Champions, 1971'.

Several athletes were unable to attend the banquet and had their medallions presented to a person representing them. Brothers George and Greg Athans both were unable to attend. George won the world water ski championship last fall while his younger brother won a gold medal in snow skiing at the Canada Winter Games.

Brook Aynsley, a member of the Canadian track and field team at the Pan American Games, also was unable to attend.

Other athletes at the banquet were Pat Tonich, provincial midjet girls 400 metre champion; Colleen Murphy, bantam girls shot put and discus champion; Mark Zimmer, midjet boys discus champion; Brenda Calvin, midjet girls discus champion; Sheryl Ramsell, gold medal winner in B.C. summer swimming championships and Jody Weder, gold medal winner in free exercise event in B.C. age group gymnastic championships.

Colin Campbell came up for two awards, as he won a gold medal in open B.C. summer diving championships and a member of the B.C. trampolining team competing in the 1971 Canadian championships.

January and February are usually the months with the highest snowfall during the winter. April 1 is the earliest date for an accurate estimate of what the situation could be. Melting starts about May 1 at the highest levels.

French Takes Precedence On New Shoulder Flasher

Penitentiary officers from Ontario to British Columbia are upset over the new shoulder flasher they must wear. As they put it, a French Canadian 'takeover'.

The feature spot on the flash is Soliciteur General and the English version is across the bottom. The patch is ridiculous to start with. Why the solicitor general name tag? Why not just 'Federal Penitentiaries'? Who gives a hoot about what portfolio the penitentiaries come under.

In B.C. the officers are virtually in open rebellion over their bilingual flashers. It's alright for a strictly French province but not B.C. or the Prairies for that matter.

There is mounting anger also over the fact that the French-Canadian Solicitor-General Jean-Pierre Goyer has moved his compatriots into senior positions in Ottawa. It is rumored that new positions have French nominees in both the parole department and the Canadian Penitentiary Service.

Recently Quebecers have started to move into key positions in predominantly English western and Ontario regions.

One penitentiary officer said that the 'excuse' for putting the French first was 'phony'. It was claimed that the two extra letters in French made it impossible to fit in the squared bottom segment. A look at the patch and it is easy to see there was plenty of room for two or more letters.

Pen officers feel Goyer is relentless in his determination to make one service predominantly French.

One wonders if our French cabinet ministers are trying to put 'French' ahead of 'English' in all provinces.

The minister responsible for post office department, J. J. Cote, has the word 'poste' taking precedent over the English word 'post'. It has been that way for some time but apparently postal workers could care less. Or if they do they haven't made any fuss publicly of any amount.

Going down the list of cabinet ministers there are eight French ministers, including the prime minister, out of 28 and three cabinet ministers have no portfolio. Five parliamentarians (MPs) are French.

Now take B.C., the French it seems haven't a chance at a cabinet post. There isn't one on the roster.

Pressure Is On Canada

Pressure on Canada and other United States trading partners to come up with trade concessions is intensifying in Washington as the Nixon administration prepares legislation to devalue the American dollar for presentation to Congress in the first week of February, according to a Canadian Press report.

Virtually no congressional objection to the devaluation itself has developed, but the debate is bound to bring to the surface strong protectionist sentiment that has developed in both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, in agreeing to devaluation at the December meeting of the Group of Ten finance ministers, included a provision that Congress would not be asked to devalue until he had won trade concessions that could withstand congressional "scrutiny."

So far there have been no notable concessions. They were to have been part of the bargain under which the U.S. lifted the 10-per-cent surtax on dutiable imports.

Although much U.S. attention is focused on the European Common Market countries and Japan, it is recognized that Canada, too, is expected to make a contribution. So far, says a source close to the situation, there has been a tendency for each country to hang back, waiting to see what other countries are ready to offer in concessions.

With Congress soon to resume work after its Christmas vacation, there is mounting pressure for something firm to help balance the U.S. move on devaluation through increasing the price of gold to $38 an ounce from $35.

It is understood Canadian negotiators are pretty well resigned to the proposition that Canada isn't going to get something for nothing. The problem is to find the best balance—"something that will look well on both sides of the border," said one source.

The Canadian negotiators appreciate Connally's dilemma in dealing with Congress, but the areas in which Canada can move are viewed as limited—focusing particularly on the 1965 Canada-U.S. auto agreement. The U.S. has been demanding that Canada give up so-called temporary safeguards that tilted the deal in Canada's favor.

Canada has argued that its auto industry has not yet reached the point where it can live without the safeguards. But as pressure mounts for Canadian concessions, some compromise on the auto pact seems inevitable.

The argument against Canada is that while other countries revalued their currencies upwards as part of the deal, Canada's dollar was permitted to continue to float. A source close to the Group of Ten meetings says "the pitch" for a time within the closed meetings was for Canada "to peg the dollar up by five, seven or even eight per cent."

Canada is seen as unlikely to bow to U.S. pressure to buy American military equipment on a scale that would help the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit under the defence-sharing agreement.

"Because of these factors there is more pressure for Canada to do more in the trade area," a source explained recently. "And the area where Canada can move is becoming pretty obvious"—an apparent reference to the auto agreement.

The debate that opens in Congress next month could go on for some time. Certainly President Nixon would want considerable progress on a wide range of U.S.-Canada negotiations before his scheduled visit to Ottawa in the spring.

EXERCISES FOR THE NEW YEAR

Russia Faces Long Fight Against Arch-Rival China

MOSCOW (Reuters) — For the Kremlin and the world, 1972 holds promise of foreign policy developments as startling as any last year.

Soviet leaders in planning the year ahead still face a long struggle to hold their own as the focal point of Communist influence against their arch rival—China.

The Soviet Union ended 1971 with what appears to be a major diplomatic victory—by supporting India in its clash with Pakistan over the formation of breakaway Bangladesh. Both China and the U.S. backed the loser—Pakistan.

The coming year, however, still presents thorny diplomatic problems.

With President Richard Nixon about to visit Peking in February and Moscow in May, the Kremlin will have to work hard to ensure that the United States does not play on Soviet differences with the Chinese leadership.

Meanwhile, Soviet talks with the U.S. begun in 1969 on ways to curb the strategic arms race continue at a slow pace, sometimes giving the impression of being entirely independent of the general course of international events.

MEASURE OF TRUST

The fact that Washington and Moscow can however, discuss such vital issues as their national security is a measure of the wary trust between East and West built up painfully since the Second World War.

This atmosphere also contributed to the agreement reached between the U.S., Russia, Britain and France last year on Berlin, providing easier access to the East for West Berliners.

Moscow now hopes to crown this in 1972 with an all-European conference to improve the general atmosphere of détente in the region.

Other Soviet proposals for international gatherings such as a world disarmament conference or a conference of the five nuclear powers—the Big Four and China—have not fared so well and China is more responsible for this than any other power.

Suggestions that Russia wants the all-European conference to assure its rear by a stable Europe in case of a flare-up with China are rejected by officials in Moscow.

But there is no denying that a stable situation in Europe—nearer realization than 10 years ago—could release much of Russia's defence capacity.

APART FROM China, Moscow also faces great problems in the Middle East.

An Egyptian alliance with Libya—whose leader Col. Muammar Gaddafi is outspokenly anti-Communist—and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's support for the suppression last year of a Communist-backed coup in Sudan caused anxiety in Moscow.

The Soviet Union has persistently urged a political settlement of the Middle East conflict and there is no reflection of the belligerent tone of the Egyptian leaders against Israel.

Obviously the rivals in the Middle East are the U.S. and the Soviet Union. But China takes an active interest, even evoking Soviet charges that Peking is planning collusion with Israel.

That Symbol, Soft-Spoken Mr. Pu, May Head Home From Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The soft-spoken Mr. Pu, a symbol of the improved climate that helped lead to diplomatic relations between China and Canada, may soon return to his Asian homeland.

Pu Chao-min arrived here in 1964 as the first North American correspondent for the Peking-based New China news agency.

Although he was recalled to Peking for three years during the cultural revolution—as were most Chinese emissaries abroad—he has been quietly influential here as an ice-breaker for closer relations.

"He has made many friends in this country," a government official says of the quiet but congenial 47-year-old correspondent.

Mr. Pu's replacement, Wang Chang-yuen, is expected to arrive here shortly. Mr. Pu recently renewed his six-month visa and is expected to stay for a while to break in his successor.

His arrival seven years ago followed an agreement that allowed the Toronto Globe and Mail to place a correspondent in Peking.

AGREEMENT UNCHANGED
The one-for-one agreement is said to be unchanged, signalling Mr. Pu's departure after Mr. Wang arrives.

In a conversation this week, Mr. Pu spoke of his assignment here. He modestly disclaimed any part in establishing diplomatic relations with Canada. Officials here confirm this but say Mr. Pu's presence has helped create a favorable climate for the development.

His main interests as a correspondent have been the economy, social problems and foreign relations. Canadian concern about American economic ownership is a theme in many of his stories.

As a visitor, he has been delighted by the beauty of the Rockies during a visit to Banff and Jasper, Alta., and he evidently would like to take a trip to the Canadian Arctic before he leaves.

His face lit up when Chester Ronning's name was mentioned. Mr. Ronning, the China-born former Canadian diplomat, speaks Mandarin—Mr. Pu's native language.

VISITED PARSONAGE

And he has visited the United Church of Canada parsonage at Gravenhurst, Ont., where Dr. Norman Bethune, a medical man who became a revolutionary hero in China, was born. Dr. Bethune died of an infection in 1939 while treating wounded Communist Chinese troops.

His main difficulty in Canada, he said, has been speaking English. He uses the language carefully, precisely and with little accent but he still has an interpreter, who wasn't present during the conversation.

He and his wife Sung Kuei-yu haven't seen their 19-year-old son, a soldier, in two years.

Mr. Pu joined the New China news agency in 1946. His travels since then have included a year in Switzerland covering the Geneva conference on Laos. He also toured Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Bolivia and Chile.

He reads extensively, picking up much of the information in his articles from newspapers and television. He rarely interviews anyone although he has sociable relations with diplomats, government officials, newspaper men, academics and members of the Canadian Chinese communities.

It Could Be Flying Gold Mine But Jumbo Jet Now Hard To Fill

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The Boeing 747, the largest, most advanced airliner in the world, has not been a rousing fiscal success for some financially-troubled airlines.

Several airlines have either put their planes into mothballs, leased them, turned them into cargo carriers or ripped out some of the 371 seats to add a cargo section. Several have sold them, have them for sale or traded them in for smaller planes.

There is nothing wrong with the giant airliner and a fully-loaded 747 is a flying gold mine. In addition, it has flown 30 billion passenger miles without a fatality.

The problem is airlines are finding that, in a recession, they are flying more empty seats than people.

Brant International Airlines ordered two 747s. One flies every day between Dallas and Honolulu at a profit.

But Brant executives could not find a route in their system to justify the use of the second 747. Brant traded the plane back to Boeing for six smaller 737s. Boeing sold the Brant plane to a supplemental carrier, Eastern Airlines originally ordered four. But executives found they could not justify the expense and sold them to Trans World Airlines. They lease three from Pan American to serve New York, San Juan, Chicago, and Miami. This spring, when Eastern gets its first Lockheed TriStar, it will stop flying 747s.

National Airlines ordered two with options for two more. They cancelled the options and fly the two 747s from Miami to New York and Los Angeles. But both planes are up for sale.

Pan Am, which ordered 33, has delayed delivery of two of them because of the carrier's financial condition. They are in storage.

International airlines also are adjusting to their 747 problems. Aer Lingus—Irish International—put its two planes in storage during the winter because losses would be too heavy to justify their use.

KLM—Royal Dutch Airline—and Sabena of Belgium took the seats out of the rear passenger section for the winter and used the space for baggage and cargo.

Alitalia ripped out all the seats in one of its 747s and is flying cargo this winter.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

ANOTHER BITE

Sir: May I take this opportunity to reply to the recent letter in this column entitled Not up to Par. Speaking for the product, the apple, for our Okanagan consumers to purchase in the stores an apple as it should be—firm, crisp and juicy—is not an easy problem to solve.

Without reservation, "seconds and culls" are not the only quality of apples that are destined to the Okanagan consumers. The best quality grades are readily available for our area stores to market.

Then, why such poor quality? The reasons are varied and many. An apple, as you are aware, has a relatively short life stored or displayed in a comfortable room temperature. In this atmosphere, it does not take many days for a crisp apple to become soft and mealy. Sadly, this condition exists for the bulk of our apples in many of the stores, not only here in the Valley, but in our markets elsewhere.

Further, in this area, the apple that you had purchased may have been supplied directly from a grower, whose storage condition is not ideal for the produce, or it may not have been graded to government standards and quality control of the selling agency, B.C. Tree Fruits. This grading is enforced for all shipments going outside the Valley.

The fruit growers' organization is very much aware of the situation and deplores the fact that the product quality is poor in some stores of the Okanagan. However, without denying the total freedom from the growers to sell his own produce—it is a difficult situation to solve. According to the regulations of the fruit board, which is under the jurisdiction of the provincial government, any fruit grower can market a portion or all his produce in his growing area. For markets outside the Valley he must sell through B.C. Tree Fruits and his fruit graded to established and government standards.

It is unfortunate, taking the advantage to be able to sell and buy under the umbrella of our marketing system, some, both grower and retailer, will spoil the image and the marketability of our Okanagan apple and its industry.

Imagine the chaos that would exist if everyone of the 3,000 fruit growers tried to sell his own crop.

To our consumer, for that apple as an apple should be, crisp, crunchy and juicy, the good majority of the growers will appreciate it if you will insist that your grocers purchase their stock from our packing houses and keep it in their stores. There are thousands of boxes of properly graded and polished apples in our cold and controlled atmosphere storage waiting to be eaten.

Sincerely,
YOSH TERADA, Grower
Chairman, Northern District Council

CANADA'S STORY

Frontenac, Cadillac Hit Back At Critics

By BOB BOWMAN

Theatrical performers sometimes dream of a happy day when they might be able to score over their critics. Count Frontenac and his lieutenant, Antoine Cadillac, found a way to do this in 1694.

Frontenac had Cadillac to produce two plays to entertain the garrison during the long winter. Bishop St. Vallier was very critical and Jan. 17, 1694, denounced the plays as immoral and kept up a running fire against such frivolous entertainment.

Frontenac and the bishop were constantly quarrelling, and Cadillac did his best to keep the pot boiling. Evidently he caused a rumor to circulate that he was going to produce another play, Tartuffe, by Moliere, a satire on evils existing behind the mask of religion. Bishop St. Vallier was almost wild with anger.

Cadillac wrote later: "Monsieur de St. Vallier sweated blood and water to stop a torrent that existed only in the imagination."

Unfortunately for Cadillac, the church eventually held the upper hand. Cadillac, who founded Detroit, resembled D'Artagnan of The Three Musketeers. He was dashing, brave, an excellent swordsman, and had a hot temper. He was always in conflict with the clergy and once said openly that the Jesuits smelled of sedition 100 yards off. On another occasion he announced that he would no longer pause in his way for the noise of puppies snapping and barking at his heels.

Eventually he lost his lucrative post at Detroit (Fort Pontchartrain) and was made governor of Louisiana. This was being "kicked upstairs" and his conduct led to his being sent to the Bastille. After his release he was made governor of a town in Gascony.

OTHER JAN. 17 EVENTS:
1524—De Verrazano began to explore coast of North America for France.

1651—Jean de Lauzon became governor of Canada.

1700—Iberville began building fort below New Orleans.

1840—Lower Canada Canadians protested that they were not consulted about union with Upper Canada.

1881—Interprovincial bridge opened at Ottawa.

1933—Newfoundland asked Britain to investigate financial troubles.

1961—Canada returned war treasures to Poland.

Dief Strikes No Blow In Anger So Far As He Writes Memoirs

OTTAWA (CP) — If John Diefenbaker's political opponents are right, they heard he had begun writing his memoirs during a winter vacation in Grenada, they can relax for a little while longer. So far, the former Conservative prime minister hasn't struck a blow in anger.

Chances are, before he is through, an odd wallop will be felt, but at the moment Mr. Diefenbaker is working through his boyhood with a fascinating flashback of pioneering on the Prairies. He has reached 1910 when, as a 15-year-old youth, his family moved from rural Saskatchewan into Saskatoon.

Mr. Diefenbaker, tanned and enthusiastic following his Caribbean holiday, showed a reporter the first handwritten volume of his memoirs—it must rank as one of the earliest of book previews—and it indicates that his mastery of story-telling can be comfortably transferred to print.

His memory for historical detail is impressive.

Working without a note, Mr. Diefenbaker has been devoting about three hours a day to the task of recalling his childhood, penning his memories into a foolscap-size book.

It won't be this casual when he reaches the contemporary political section—that's going to be researched in every detail. In the meantime he finds the longhand process to be better than expected.

"My dictaphone machine broke, and, you know, it turned out to be the best thing that happened. Writing by hand is very slow, but because of this you get an opportunity to relieve the period and details all come back."

If the completed books are gobbled up by political students, they are bound to be equally sought-after by students of early Canadian history. Mr. Diefenbaker is writing, with clarity and wit, about a boyhood life that was surrounded by a warm homestead, old bunkhouses, early Canadian heroes and childhood pranks.

He writes about long, bone-shaking trips on the old Red River carts—"they should have been used for religious purposes, because they could kick hell out of everyone."

He light-heartedly remembers

Wildlife Group Appeals For Land

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP) — The East Kootenay Wildlife Association has appealed to Premier W. A. C. Bennett to allocate winter range land for big game animals to compensate for about 3,000 acres that will be flooded with the raising of the Libby Dam in Montana this year.

In a brief sent to the premier this week, the association said increased allocation of grazing lands in the Rocky Mountain Trench to domestic animals and natural deforestation during the last 40 years has reduced the winter ranges available to the big game.

This has resulted in a decline in the birth rate among various species.

"We used to be known as a big game area," association director Don Sherling said in an interview. "But if this trend keeps up, we'll be out of wildlife completely."

The brief said the flooding will destroy the habitat of 6,000 to 8,000 whitetail deer and about 500 elk.

It said an inter-government land study in 1970 said the East Kootenays has "the greatest potential for big game among any areas in North America."

The brief said that game management in Oregon, which started with 42 transplants elk in 1911, has resulted in a current 15,000 to 17,000 elk.

"In this area, we take out about 1,500," Mr. Sherling said. "The key is management, we've got to plan ahead to provide big game."

Bond Burning Ceremony Marks Rink Repayment

The traditional mortgage burning ceremony was held outdoors Sunday evening when the Ellison Centennial Park and Recreation Association burned a 'note' in a huge bonfire.

The event marked the repayment of a $3,000 loan used to build the regulation-sized outdoor rink.

Close to 100 attended the ceremonies at the rink site, with children and teen-agers participating in the burn-off along with the adults. A supper of hot dogs and refreshments topped with special centennial cake was served outdoors and skating completed the special agenda of events.

1967 PROJECT

Construction of the rink was started in 1967 by the Ellison Park Society, which functioned under that charter until last fall when it became a recreational commission qualifying for the provincial grant of $300.

The rink base, a slab of asphalt is suitable for other uses, such as tennis and volleyball in the summer. Dances have also been held on the 'slab', both as a community social and fund raisers.

Viet Planes Shot Down

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter planes exchanged missiles with North Vietnamese anti-aircraft defences along the Laotian border Sunday and today and were believed to have destroyed two of them, the U.S. command announced. It said the American planes were not hit.

North Vietnamese missile batteries near the Ban Karki pass fired three surface-to-air missiles—SAMs—at U.S. planes operating in the region 35 to 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

U.S. fighters escorting the bombers fired two missiles, and the U.S. command said one SAM site and one anti-aircraft artillery radar were believed destroyed.

This brought the total of so-called protective reaction strikes into North Vietnam to 10 this year.

Paralleling the intensified air action was a Communist "high point" of ground activity in South Vietnam, which began a week ago.

The South Vietnamese command reported 20 small-scale ground assaults, rocket, mortar, sapper and terror attacks, most of them in the central and northern provinces of South Vietnam. This raised the total of such attacks to 190 in the last seven days.

Windows Shattered

HANEY, B.C. (CP) — Hundreds of greenhouse windows were shattered Saturday when an explosion wiped out a steam generating plant at greenhouses operated by Rinichiro and George Yoshita in Haney, about 20 miles east of Vancouver.

Houses more than a mile away were shaken by the blast and debris was found more than 200 yards from the steam plant. There were no injuries, but damage was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Cause of the explosion is believed to have been a fault in the safety mechanism of the oil-fired steam plant.

LOAN ELIMINATED IN BLAZE

Everyone shared in the lighting ceremony when the Ellison Centennial Park and Recreation Association burned the 'loan note' depicting the clearance of the $3,000 loan. Here one resident kneels to light a flick of paper in the tepee of wood and paper which blazed for some time, while the crowd enjoyed a hot dog supper and later skated on the community rink.—(Courier photo).

Are we shortchanging our most important asset?

This year, the Provincial Government demanded that school boards keep costs down. Which sounds reasonable.

Unless you realize, that just like everyone else, schools are fighting inflation.

In one district bunker oil for furnaces went up thirty percent, fire insurance went up sixty percent, school supplies went up six percent, and the telephone went up ten percent. So with rising costs and the Provincial Government's inflexible finance formula, school boards can't balance their books.

So they start cutting.

Out go new textbooks, music classes, physical education programs, and lists of new equipment. In come bigger classes, fewer teachers and less individual help.

Look at it this way.

If we shortchange our most important asset, we shortchange our future. And with the way things are going,

that doesn't make very much sense at all.

Phone your school board for action.

INITIATION IDEAS

A number of new uses for well known bedside nursing articles formed part of the initiation ceremonies for practical nursing students at the Okanagan Vocational College. Twenty-two students and their instructress, Marcia Aitken were involved in the fun session which included relays and games related to nursing. Colored pears in one instance were fed to the students. Colored by green coloring they were anything but appetizing looking. The idea of an initiation ceremony was promoted by several students who hoped to get students who have come from many parts of the province, better acquainted. Students enrolled at the school are: Laura Davis, Armstrong,

Donna Eastwood, Fernie, Linda Hoivick and Mrs. Hoamaert, Kelowna; Judy Isenor, Molly John, Rose Nitik, Gail MacLaurin, all of Kamloops; Vivian Jack, Jean Anne Bartlett, both of Victoria; Mable Marshall, Rutland; Donna Nicholson, and Pat Reid, both of Summerland; Kay Richards, Okanagan Centre, Phyllis Rollier, Chase; Betty Jean Snow, Merritt; Margaret Sparrow, Kelowna; Val Stearns, Red Deer, Alta.; Marilyn Walker, also of Victoria and Marla Winchuk of Kelowna and Myrna Witola. George Cook, dean of Vocational Training was nosed out by Miss Aitken and one of the students.

Attention Provincial Artists Names And Data Needed

The western office of the National Gallery of Canada is compiling an artists' inventory for the province of British Columbia.

There are many artists who continue to work in obscurity from both the institutions that have been conceived to promote their growth, and from each other. By having a directory of individuals, groups, co-operatives, etc., who are currently making art, the people and institutions interested in the cultural life of the province will have a place where they may refer for such information. It will also facilitate the means for communication to occur between artists working in relative obscurity who could benefit from some active sense of community.

One of the major problems with any art history of Canada compiled to date has been the lack of any practical inventory of artistic production within our country. If an artist's inventory were compiled, there would be a data bank which would be invaluable when granting procedures are being done, or research is conducted into the artist's sphere.

British Columbia wishes to promote "Artists' Probe" in order to be listed and recognized in the B.C. Artists' Inventory they ask that individuals as artists, respond by sending in a brief curriculum vitae, with your present address and phone number, also include photographs and/or slides representative of your art to date. To keep the files contemporary, one must occasionally send in new data. These files will be available to anyone who is interested. Any documentation that is received before Feb. 19, 1972, will be included in the "Artists' Probe," to be held in the Vancouver Art Gallery on these dates.

Send your documentation to: Dennis Wheeler, National Gallery of Canada, Western Office, Suite No. 406, 1177 West Broadway, Vancouver 9, B.C.

Alberta Farmers Use More Land

EDMONTON (CP) — The trend toward larger farm units continues in the province, the Alberta Wheat Pool says in a recent report.

Only 28.4 per cent of the estimated 50,000 farmers operate on a half section of land or less while just over 27 per cent farm between a half and full section of land.

Of the remainder, 15.7 per cent farm a section to 1 1/2 sections with 10.1 per cent operating on two sections, 1,280 acres. Five per cent farm 2 1/2 sections while acreages of more than 2 1/2 sections are farmed by 12.5 per cent.

SURE DEAL FOR NEEDY BANKRUPTS

The Consumers' Association of Canada recommends that bankruptcy facilities be available to needy consumers without cost, that all types of small debtor financial problems be handled by one administrative agency only and that wage garnishments be strictly supervised by the courts. HITHER and YON

Mrs. C. H. Daly of Abbott Street has returned from spending the festive season with her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Weaver and family at Ponoka, Alta.

Dinner guests Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. David Ruf of Okanagan Mission included, Rev. and Mrs. Edward Krempin, Rev. and Mrs. Alex Propp and Rev. and Mrs. Nicholas Glock.

Among socials planned for curlers taking part in the 19th annual Ogopogette Bonspiel this weekend will be a banquet on Saturday evening starting at 5:30 p.m. and a coffee party on Saturday morning from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Mrs. Win Bradley of Nassau House is back from a wonderful month-long holiday in Honolulu, where she spent the festive season with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Bradley and family of Vancouver at Walkiki Beach.

Back from a southern tour are Mrs. Charles Kill of Carman Manor, who was accompanied by Mrs. William Reid and her daughter, Marie; Mrs. Kay Lawrie and Mrs. Ruth Brown. The group spent Christmas in San Francisco and New Year's in Pasadena. They report that the weather was terrible, with the exception of the time spent at Disneyland.

More than 20 friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Moubrey honored the couple at a surprise party to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on Thursday. Upon arriving home from a dinner engagement the couple were swamped with the well-wishers who extended congratulations and organized an evening of dancing and games.

A gift of crystal was presented to the happy couple and also an anniversary cake and flowers. Refreshments supplied by the guests were served by hostesses of the evening, Mrs. W. C. Bennett, Mrs. J. K. M. Clarke, Mrs. A. J. Gray and Mrs. S. Pearson.

The couple's son Greg and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bulman were also present for the festivities.

Dolman Sleeve Flaps In Spring

NEW YORK (AP) — The dolman sleeve, shaped like a bat wing, flaps through much of designer Norman Norell's spring-summer collection.

The sleeve is loose in the armhole and tight at the wrist. It is not exactly a youthful look. It belongs on a woman over 30. It has a kind of slouchy, drooping sophistication.

In the showing Thursday, it hung on beaded evening dresses, slashed to the waist. It spread on day dresses slipped under plaid coats. It nestled in high-necked print wool dresses worn with big, stiff-brimmed hats.

These wide sleeves make up the new look for coats—roomy at the top and narrow at the bottom. This important shape is almost the reverse of the long-popular, narrow shouldered coat with flaring skirt.

As usual, Norell gives his customers an abundance of glitter for evening. Pants are covered with a solid, rattling layer of bugle beads and topped with almost uncontrolled organza blouses. They sport gigantic puff sleeves and those huge neck bows that Norell loves so much.

A Lot Of Emotion Is Expressed Says Belly Dancer Instructress

LONDON (AP) — You don't have to be Jewish to be a belly dancer but it helps, says Carolyn Muellbauer, 28, of Chicago.

"I'm of mixed Russian, Jewish and Irish extraction, and I have a lot of emotion to express in dancing," she says.

She came to London from the United States to open a belly-dancing school.

"Unlike other dancing," she says, "belly dancing is sensual."

"To do it, you have to put on a different face, like holding up a mask. I'm basically a shy person."

She got interested in the art form after meeting Arab students in Chicago, at the University of Michigan and in Bordeaux, France, where she studied art, history and sociology.

"I love Egyptian music to dance to," the slim brunette says.

Mrs. Muellbauer says her real ambition is to sing opera.

"I can express myself better through singing than through dancing."

She came to England when her husband was hired to teach economics at Warwick University, north of London.

Danish Queen Is Modern Woman

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark's first reigning queen in six centuries is a humorous, modern young mother. She speaks five languages, lectures with authority on archeology, is a gifted designer and knows about such things as labor relations and judo.

At 31, Margrethe Alexandrine Thorildur Ingrid—called Daisy for short—is Queen Margrethe II. She succeeds her father, who died Friday.

She ascended the oldest throne in Europe as the second of King Frederik's daughters to become a queen. Her younger sister, Anne-Marie, is the exiled queen of Greece.

Since childhood, Margrethe, tall and blonde, has been carefully prepared for leadership.

The five million Danes actually chose their new queen in 1952 when a referendum changed the constitution to provide for female succession when it became clear that the king would have no son.

The vote was one of confidence for the monarchy, since the absence of a male heir might have given the small republic group its chance.

Instead, the Danes staked their future form of government on a bright and smiling schoolgirl of 13.

MARRIES DIPLOMAT
At the side of the new queen is her consort, Prince Henrik, 37, French-born diplomat she married in 1967.

Their eldest son, Prince Frederik, 3, is heir with Prince Joachim, 2, next in line.

Margrethe was born April 16, 1940—a week after Denmark was invaded and occupied by Nazi Germany. She was five years old when the country was liberated.

By then she had a sister, Princess Benedikte, now 27 and married to German Prince Richard Zu Sayn Wittgenstein. In 1946 Anne-Marie, the third royal daughter, was born. She is married to Greece's exiled King Constantine.

The girls grew up in an unpretentious, normal and relatively modest family life, dominated by King Frederik's common sense and Swedish-born Queen Ingrid's tact.

Anne-Marie is the prettiest, Benedikte the most dignified and Margrethe the gayest and cleverest.

To the family and intimate friends Margrethe was clearly daddy's girl. The warm understanding between king and daughter deepened when it became clear that Daisy would one day be queen.

Margrethe's first reaction when told she was the heir was fright.

"I did not want to think about it at all," she told friends. "For it reminded me so sharply that some day my father would no longer be there."

STUDIES VARIED
Her education included a Copenhagen's girls high school, English boarding school, philosophy and constitutional law at Copenhagen University, French and arts at the Sorbonne in Paris and economics and sociology at the London School of Economics.

QUEEN MARGRETHE

Margrethe herself arranged conferences with labor leaders to gain understanding of a modern industrial society. She also served in the women's auxiliary of the air force, receiving military training, including judo.

Margrethe probably never was happier than when working on archeological sites—an interest shared with her maternal grandfather, King Gustav V of Sweden, who took the teenager on excavation trips to Etruscan sites in Italy.

Margrethe earned a coveted diploma of archeology at Cambridge, England, qualified for membership of Copenhagen's Historical-Archaeological Society whose members call each other "old fossils," contributed to periodicals and wrote and spoke the commentary for a film on the Thailand expedition.

She met her husband, French Count Henri de la Borde de Monpezat, in London.

Constitutionally, Prince Henrik, as he now is known, has no function other than husband of the queen.

As does Britain's Prince Philip, he sometimes gets into hot water for speaking his mind.

But it is no secret Henrik wears the trousers at home.

"Ever since I was a little girl I have believed that even though I must officially take first place, it would be possible for me to take second place in marriage," Margrethe said on the day of her engagement.

It's Ship Ahoy For Spring Nautical Look Comes On A Wave

NEW YORK (CP) — It's ship ahoy for spring. To use the words of the old song about nice girls who love a sailor, the nautical look sums up one of the major fashion themes.

The nautical look combines free and easy pleated skirts with short naval mess jackets.

A suit in popular spring navy flaunts a bright red bow-tie or a trim white nautical coat may have gold stars on its big sailor collar. The nautical styles, while lady-like, are breezy enough to please the young.

The most versatile nautical note is the snappy mess jacket. It not only adds authority to a vaguely nautical look but is also an important jacket length for spring with non-nautical outfits.

Other sailor items that have been authentically transferred to bolster this look are the British sailors' pants with trap-door fronts and the big sailor collars.

WAVE TO NAVY
Stun Herman calls this spring "a wave to the navy" and most designers waved in at least a small group of nauticals, Oscar de la Renta is the most devoted to the theme. In St. Tropez, France, he bought a real French sailor suit and then freely translated it into some dashing outfits.

He also bought a middy style worn by beach attendants on Venice's Lido and devised a faced-up-front, collarless middy in white linen over thin black hooded sweater, worn with white cuffed pants. He also did a floor-length, side-plashed skirt of white shark-skin topped by regulation middy.

In Toronto, Miss Sun Valley combined a double-knit white pleated skirt with a regulation blue middy and red sailor tie. Another outfit with white pants is a nautical layered look, combining a thin white skirt, blue tunic with sailboat applique front and a short-sleeved navy jacket.

This sailboat motif is found in many spring prints, for an added nautical effect, Pat Sandler showed a one-piece blue polyester knit in a tiny sail-boat pattern with a red-and-navy vest knitted into the dress. Sail-boat appliques are even appearing on handbags.

John Hott of Toronto is showing a long-sleeved, strap-pouches with contrast colored striped sail-boats.

Stars, too, are nautical additions to middy collars, Christian Dior-New York even used star-shaped button holes on one jacket. Red, white and blue are, of course, the favorite nautical colors but Pat McDonald, a Toronto designer now doing a Pat McD collection for Buchana-Sinclair, has struck out on a nautical color viewpoint of her own. She's done a cotton middy in cream, dusty rose and brown stripes. "Sounds awful but really is smashing," says Pat.

Exaggerated-sailor collars appeared in the New York collections on everything. In dresses, there was Geoffrey Beene's slim dress with back collar to the waist; in coats Dior showed a blue nautical one sporting a sort of billboard sailor collar.

Not the sailor lads but children made the sailor suit look fashionable in the Edwardian period. The spring look for grown-ups is just as demure and pretty.

EASY DOES IT

with WIN PACKER

A lady in Brantford has asked what might be done about the yellowing of the background material of her petit point pictures. If the embroidery threads are color-fast, the pictures could be bleached with an all-fabrics bleach.

A friend has suggested that to prevent such discoloration, two or three sheets of blue tissue paper be placed over the cardboard backing before the material is stretched over it, to prevent the color from coming through from the cardboard. This also seems to cut down on yellowing from exposure to light and air. The pictures should be framed under glass to eliminate soil and much of the sun and light damage to the embroidery as well as the background material.

WASTE DISPOSAL

The Consumers' Association of Canada recommends that municipalities improve collection and disposal techniques, including separate pick-up of different materials or plant separation of material. CAC headquarters is at 100 Gloucester Street, Ottawa.

Always pre-cook giblets or sausage or other raw meat before adding to a bread dressing used to stuff poultry.

Battle Of Hemline Is Over Kneecap Is Normal For Day

ROME (AP) — The battle over hemlines is probably over—at least for one season. Neither mini or midi, hems seem to have settled on the knee.

Today, the first day of the Italian spring-summer fashion showings, the interest was not on how much or how little of the leg could be seen.

Legs were in fact to remain hidden, except in the case of shorts, as the runway was restricted to nine high-fashion tailors for men. They took precedence over 24 couturiers for women and one for children.

Before these designers unveiled their collections in the week-long showings, rumors in the fashion houses indicated that women could begin to look like women again. The masculine suit was said to have passed away.

Pants were still to be present, of course, slightly flared below the knee as in the men's styles. A slight reminiscence of the masculine look was to be found only in some shirt-like jackets with the rounded flap in front and behind.

PUSH FEMININITY

But the emphasis was definitely on femininity. The couturiers announced a profusion of flattering fabrics—frosted muslins, organza, taffeta and satin—and a touch of lace here and there.

Colors will be bright, to match the season—yellow, pink, red, orange and a new shade of turquoise—in flowers, stripes and geometric designs.

For the colder months, double-face cashmeres and Peruvian alpaca are announced.

Added grace was to be given by the fullness of wheelskirts, pleated or cut on the bias, while shirts would have ruffles and puffed shoulders.

Lengths for normal morning and afternoon wear stopped just on the kneecap, most designers said.

ANN LANDERS

Furniture Not Key To Good Friends

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago you printed a letter from a Wyoming girl who wouldn't accept a date because she was ashamed to let the boys at school see her shabby home. Her widowed mother worked as a hotelmaid and it was a struggle to keep body and soul together.

My mother was in the same boat. Our home was the next thing to a shack but it never occurred to me to be ashamed of it. Mom kept it spotless and made it as attractive as she could. But most of all our home was filled with love and laughter and Mom taught me to make everyone feel welcome.

Now I am married to a fine man and we have a lovely place. Mom is a semi-invalid and we made an apartment for her on the second floor. Whenever my friends from the old days come over they never fail to ask if they can go upstairs to see Mom. Isn't that a warm compliment?

I hope every girl who is ashamed of the place she lives in will see my letter and take heart. Friends worth having don't care about furniture.

Lucky
Dear Lucky: You are more than lucky. You were raised by a mother who had inner security, and that's far more important than financial security. The last sentence in your letter contains a world of wisdom. Ever girl who is uncomfortable about the place she lives in should clip it out and tape it to her bedroom mirror.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think about a person who has dinner at your home and the next day gets on the phone and calls up the other guests to ask if they threw up all night, too? Is this a friend?

My husband and I entertain frequently and I have a reputation for being a good cook. So far as I know I have never poisoned anybody. The other night I served a fish course as the appetizer. This is what my so-called friend claims made her sick. You know very well that if there's something wrong with fish you can smell it or taste it immediately. Everyone enjoyed my creamed sole and there wasn't a smidgen left on any of the plates.

This morning I had three calls from people who wanted to know if we were sick last night because Mrs. so-and-so called them to say she was deathly ill and she was sure it was the fish. I'm beginning to think this woman made up the story just to undermine my ability as a hostess. Is this possible?—Indianaapolis

Dear Indy: It's possible but not likely. I can't imagine a person fabricating such a fish story just for the halibut.

Since no one else became ill, it's a safe assumption it was not your sole that made her sick, but something she ate elsewhere. (Maybe at home.)

Dear Ann Landers: After a few months of marriage our 19-year-old daughter was badgered into a wife-swapping arrangement by her husband who is really crazy. Lucille fell for the other man and within weeks she left her husband to live with him. I am not defending her because I think they all need psychiatric help.

The problem is that my husband will not let Lucille in our home unless she comes alone. She wants to bring her gentleman friend. (Neither is divorced.) There are three younger children who miss their sister terribly. I believe her morals are her business. What do you say?—Torn

Dear T: I say if you welcome a married daughter with her swapped boyfriend, you are condoning the arrangement. Lucille should come alone.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I have read several letters to the editors from sad pet owners, angry with hit-and-run drivers who have killed or injured cats and dogs and left them along-side the street or highway to die.

Dealer In 'Second-Hands' Sells To Rich And Famous

PARIS (AP) — Jackie Onassis took home a marble dog, Doris Duke snatched up a few Indonesian columns. And the last thing Chanel bought was a dressing table studded with horses' heads as a present for ballet dancer Jacques Chazot.

They all found "it" at Comoglio, and the Rue Jacob, the place where the rich buy their "second-hand furniture."

In the window sits the desk chair of Queen Marie Amelie of France. Inside is anything from Victor Hugo's living room and Marechal Ney's painted panels to the bust of Sarah Bernhardt and the monogrammed commode where Queen Amelie of Portugal once kept her lingerie.

"Chanel used to stop by every Saturday afternoon," began Jacques Lejeune, who says his apprenticeship with Comoglio at age 21 and inherited the shop from him. "She often came with a friend and one day I asked her, 'Do you know why you need chairs?'" The friend shook her head. "But to sit on," said Comoglio triumphantly. "What a woman!"

DUCHESS SCARED OFF
The Duchess of Windsor only came once—and stayed five minutes.

"She was so terrified she fled before I could say hello," says Lejeune. "Terrified by what?" "By the bad taste, probably."

But since 1937, when Comoglio first opened Comoglio, most people have found something in bad taste to suit their own.

"Bad taste is everything. Good taste is bad taste," he says paradoxically. The king of Morocco's heart went out to a pair of bronze Negroes, while Bunny Mellon couldn't resist Napoleon III painted furniture for her Austrian pied-a-terre.

Salvador Dali found some garden furniture "surrealistic" enough for him, but Jane Fonda settled on more comfortable chairs for her country house with Roger Vadim.

In the 18th century, the building was the British embassy, in the 19th a restaurant. And now, the dark downstairs is a mess, heaped with a helpless clutter of cherub candlesticks, stork claret-deckers, silver tulip lamps on eight-foot marble stems, rhinocorn coat racks and greyhound tables, plus a gilded console with piano inside and countless pieces whose genealogy could cover a large leaf of parchment.

Unlike stuffy antique shops—which isolate each treasure under a flattering spotlight—Lejeune treats his without the courtesy due their age and price tag.

"We don't have time to arrange them neatly because they are always coming and going. I also don't know how to direct the personnel," he adds, referring to his one Spanish helper. Rather than wait for a buyer who doesn't boggle at the price—as much as $4,000 for two art nouveau gates in steel flora with a languid nude and whip entwined in the foliage—he prefers to rent things several times and let the renters wreck them.

"People think it's your moral duty to sell," says Lejeune, who doesn't care what people think. So he rents with a clear conscience, sometimes for galas, and mostly for television, movies and theatre.

ART SELLS WELL

WINNIPEG (CP) — More than $15,000 worth of paintings by Indian artist Alton Sapp were sold during a two-week exhibit at a local high school. Sapp, a Cree Indian from the Red Pheasant reserve in Saskatchewan, sold 27 of the 42 paintings on exhibition.

TREAT TB

REGINA (CP) — There were 306 patients being treated for tuberculosis in Saskatchewan at the end of September, compared with 345 in 1970, the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League reports. There were 114 new active cases, compared with 84 in 1970, and 42 persons were readmitted for treatment.

Bucks May Have Struck It Rich Triple Threat Leads To Win

Kelowna Buckaroos may have struck it rich in a new line and a new found sense of team play, and it has started to pay as Bucks defeated Richmond Centennials 6-4 in B.C. Junior Hockey League action Saturday night before more than 1,000 fans.

The line of Ken Weninger, Murray Hanson and Archie McKinnon paid off Saturday after being victims of numerous near-misses Friday night. Hanson and McKinnon each scored two goals while one other was set up by McKinnon.

Greg Fox and Jeff Robson scored the other Kelowna goals. Don Harrison, Dave MacClellan, Doug Sweeting and Fred Parent replied for Richmond.

The win moved Bucks a scant three points behind Centennials in a battle for last place in the six-team league. Bucks hit the road for a six-game span before returning to Memorial Arena Feb. 4 when Chilliwack Bruins are the visitors.

Bucks, who won an overwhelming 6-1 contest against Kamloops Rockets Friday night, started off Saturday slow and were outskated as they came out on the short end of a 2-1 score. They began to match their visitors' strikes in the second frame but still trailed 2-2.

The third period was all Buckaroos, as they scored four goals to take over the lead.

MacClellan's goal at 7:41 of the first period broke a 1-1 tie and put Centennials ahead for the second time in the game.

Neither team was able to score again before the end of the period, but the visitors didn't waste much time into the second period before expanding their lead.

Parent rapped the puck into the net after moving Buck goalie Ron Bourcier out of position to give Bucks a 3-1 lead and their strongest point in the game.

McKinnon got the goal back midway through the period as he forced the puck past Centennials' Rick Marko after getting a break.

Bucks took a penalty late in the second period and scored only seconds after the infraction against Fox was expired.

One-Pointers By Oil Kings Put Them In Division Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Oil Kings engineered a one-point victory over Regina Pats Sunday to move into a one-point lead in the western division of the Western Canada Hockey League. But in the eastern division, Saskatoon Blades blew a chance to move into a first-place tie with the Pats.

Pats, who lost 3-2 to Edmonton, remain in first place with 49 points.

At Saskatoon Sunday, Winnipeg Jets continued to battle for a playoff spot as they upset the Blades 5-2 before 1,991 fans. The loss left Saskatoon with 47 points.

The Jets' win gave them 33 points but they remain in fifth place behind Brandon Wheat Kings and Flin Flon Bombers, whose weekend doubleheader was postponed because of an outbreak of influenza among the Brandon players.

Swift Current Broncos remain in the eastern cellar after taking their 28th loss Saturday, an 8-4 defeat by Victoria Cougars in Victoria.

WIN EXHIBITION

In other games Sunday, Calgary Centennials took a 3-1 victory over Medicine Hat Tigers in an exhibition game at Calgary. The game was held to help the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association raise funds, but was poorly attended.

At New Westminster, the high-flying Bruins scored an easy 8-2 conquest over Victoria Cougars, who scored two goals. Single goals were scored by Bernie Lukowich, Grant Williams, Lorne Henning and Roy Carmichael.

Cougars got goals from Perry Robinson and Murray Bennett. Edmonton trailed 2-0 after two periods of rough play but marched back with two goals in the third period from Darcy Rota and Keith Mackie before Curtis Shokoples scored the winner at 14:59. Dennis Sobchuk and John Doble scored Regina's goals early in the second period.

Winnipeg scored four goals during the second period in Saskatoon. The teams had been tied 1-1 after the first period.

MILLER SCORES TWO

Jets got a two-goal performance from Ernie Miller with other goals by Dave Elliott, Jeff Hunt and Garry Doerksen. Tom Finner and Lawrence Sacharuk scored for the Blades, who lost their third game at home in 22 starts this season.

At Medicine Hat Saturday, Tom Lysiak and Stan Weir sparked the Tigers in an upset win over Calgary. Lysiak scored three goals and Weir two as the Tigers held period leads of 2-0 and 4-2.

Other Medicine Hat goals were scored by Ed Johnstone, who was first in the league, and Dick Jellena. Doug Hornebl scored two for Calgary and Mike Rogers and Bob Nystrom scored one apiece.

GOING OVER HIS HEAD

A shot by Danny O'Shea of the Chicago Black Hawks (back) bounces over the head of New York Rangers goaltender Ed Giacomin (1) after he stopped it from going into the net in a recent NHL game. The teams battled to a 5-5 draw.

Scoring Mark For Bobby Hull Continuation Helps In A Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull set a record Saturday night when it didn't make much difference, then continued his record-shattering performance Sunday as Chicago Black Hawks opened a 13-point lead in the National Hockey League's West Division.

The 33-year-old native of Pointe St. Charles, Ont., playing in his 1,000th game Saturday, fired his record 30th goal of the season in a 4-2 loss to the Bruins at Boston. It marked the 13th consecutive season the Chicago winger had scored 30 or more goals.

But it counted back home Sunday where his 31st helped the Hawks to a 3-2 win over Minnesota and put their lead over the North Stars in the West.

Elsewhere Sunday, the Bruins, who regained a share of first place in the East the previous night on the strength of Phil Esposito's two third-period goals, made it two straight to move past New York Rangers with a 9-2 drubbing of Detroit Red Wings.

Buffalo Sabres upset Montreal Canadiens 4-2, St. Louis Blues edged Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 and defenseman Ed Van Impe's score lifted Philadelphia Flyers to a 3-3 tie with Los Angeles Kings in other Sunday night encounters.

LEAFS HELP BRUINS

Toronto aided in Boston's move to the top of the East with a 4-3 win over New York in another Saturday night contest while Montreal tipped Buffalo 6-2, Pittsburgh Penguins defeated Philadelphia 4-2, St. Louis romped 7-2 over Minnesota, Detroit outlasted Los Angeles 7-4 and Vancouver Canucks nipped California Golden Seals 4-3.

Boston is at St. Louis and Minnesota entertains California in Tuesday night's action. Bobby Hull sent the Hawks into a 2-0 lead early in the third period but defenseman Jerry Korab's third goal of the season was needed to ensure the win when the North Stars rebounded on scores by Dean Prentice and Jean-Paul Parise.

It was a tame encounter between the two leaders in the West with only a no-punch skirmish between Chicago defenseman Keith Magnuson and Stars' captain Ted Harris in the second period marring an otherwise cleanly-played match-up.

While Esposito regained first in the scoring race with a goal, his 37th, and an assist to give him 76 points—one ahead of New York's Jean Ratelle, it was Boston's third line that carried the game over Detroit.

SANDERSON STARS
Centre Derek Sanderson scored three goals and set up scores by wingers Mike Walton and Ed Westfall as the Bruins snapped a 20-minute scoreless deadlock with six goals in the second period.

Boston goalie Ed Johnston, who had little action while facing 16 shots, got into the scoring, assisting on Ken Hodges' second goal of the game as the Bruins sent a 47-shot barrage at Detroit goalie Al Smith.

Jim Lorentz, scored earlier in the season by both St. Louis and New York, scored twice for his new team-mates at Buffalo against the Canadiens, a team that has suddenly gone flat without their rookie goaltending sensation, Ken Dryden.

Dryden, injured just before Christmas, got out of traction last Tuesday after undergoing treatment for a back injury and was scheduled to begin skating today.

The Canadiens came back from a 2-0 deficit to even the count on Jacques Lemaire's 19th of the season at 4:11 of the third period. But scores by Lorentz, 36 seconds later, and Gil Perreault settled the outcome.

"The team played well," said Joe Crozier, filling in as Sabres coach while Punch Imlach recuperates in hospital from a heart attack suffered 10 days ago. "And this victory can serve as an anniversary present for Punch and his wife, Dodo."

Sunday was the Imlach's 27th wedding anniversary and the victory moved the Sabres out of the East cellar, one point ahead of Vancouver.

Betsy Clifford Will Miss Games

GRINDELWALD (CP)—Betsy Clifford of Ottawa hit a bump on the slopes of this Swiss mountain village Sunday, broke her right ankle and cracked her left heel.

The Canadian world giant slalom champion will be lost for the Winter Olympics but her father, John Clifford, said in Ottawa he was told by her Swiss coach, Peter Franzén, she might be back on skis in six weeks.

Miss Clifford, who turned 18 last Oct. 15, was out practising Sunday for the World Cup events here Tuesday and Wednesday when she hit the bump and landed wrongly.

She suffered a double fracture in her right ankle and damaged her left heel. Both her legs are in casts.

"We spoke to her yesterday afternoon and of course she was very disappointed," her father said.

"She had been working toward the Olympics for the last four years. I got the impression though that she was lucky that the injuries were not worse."

PRESIDENT'S PLAY IS NULLIFIED

Cowboys Finally Win The Big One

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four times Miami called President Nixon's play — and four times Dallas was there to put it out of commission.

But Roger Staubach, a Navy ensign in Vietnam when Dallas Cowboys were earning a reputation of losing the big ones, performed flawlessly as a field general Sunday in Tulane Stadium and got them that big one, a 24-3 victory over Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl VI.

"People said we were an emotional team, that we couldn't win the big ones," the 28-year-old quarterback said after he passed for a pair of touchdowns and directed an offence which riddled the young Miami defence for 352 yards. "I think the team proved it is a very emotional team—a great team."

Staubach was the most obvious of many heroes in the National Football League championship, played before a sellout crowd of 81,023 fans who shivered through the windy, mid-30-degree day.

Running backs Duane Thomas and Walt Garrison and pass-catchers Lance Alworth and Mike Ditka also shared the spotlight—but it was a gang of grizzled bandits—Mel Renfro, Herb Adderley, Cornell Green, Chuck Howley and the rest of the Doomsday Defence—that demolished the Dolphins' dreams.

Miami's hope had been that wide receiver Paul Warfield, with a little bit of help from President Nixon and a lot from Bob Griese, would be able to shake loose and haul in the long bombs for touchdowns that had brought them the American Conference crown.

But from the outset, it was obvious that the cowboys, who won their last seven National Conference contests, then shut down Bud Grant's Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers to once again reach the summit, were ready for the bomb—and a n y t h i n g e l s e Miami could throw against them.

"They were pretty intent on taking away the inside," Warfield said of the Dallas secondary, "and they did it. I just couldn't shake loose."

Virtually every time Warfield burst off the line of scrimmage or out of the backfield, he found Cowboys swarming around him, soaring high or diving low to slap away potential long gainers. "They showed me more than I expected," he sighed.

The president's play, a simple down-and-in, pass pattern, was exactly what Dallas was expecting, and was ready to foil every time.

The first time the Cowboys saw it coming, they blitzed Griese, and the Miami quarterback, unable to take the time to look for Warfield, had to throw a safety valve pass to Jim Kiick that gained six yards—and left them with fourth down and forced a punt.

The next time it came, Green came out of nowhere with a headlong dive and fingertip deflection.

Then it was Bob Lilly and the front four again, storming in on Griese and forcing him to throw out of the reach of his wide receiver.

And, finally, with a variation on the play—Warfield in motion before heading into Texas territory, it was Renfro coming up to bat down the pass.

"I think he was a little leery coming in there after a while," Renfro said. "I'm relieved, more than anything. There was an awful lot of pressure on us. I've had something in the pit of my stomach all week."

In all, Warfield was held to just four catches for 39 yard and Griese, all but limited to throwing to his backs and tight ends, managed to complete 12 of 23 passes for only 134 yards.

And with Lilly, the 140-pound right tackle, and the rest of the front four controlling the line of scrimmage, the highly touted Miami ground game was even less effective as Kiick and Larry Csonka were held to 34 yards apiece.

Only twice did Miami even threaten to score. The first time with the Dolphins on the Dallas 24-yard line, Griese fired to Warfield near the goal line, but Adderley was there too, leaping and tipping the ball just enough. So Miami had to settle for what turned out to be their only score, Gare Yepremian's 51-yard field goal.

"Dallas demolished us," each Don Shula muttered in the tomb that was the Miami dressing room. "We never got untracked. My biggest disappointment is that we never clung longed them, never took the fight to them... they tore us apart on defence and completely controlled our offence."

You Can't Even Beat Golden Bear When He Isn't Playing At His Best

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus sank an 18-foot birdie putt on the first playoff hole for a victory Sunday over young Johnny Miller in the $140,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament.

Nicklaus, who now has won five of his last six starts and is threatening a dominance of the game unmatched in history, picked up a $28,000 cheque in his first start of the year. The victory by the Golden Bear left opposing players, officials and observers shaking their heads and wondering aloud: "How do you beat him if you can't do it when he's playing bad?"

Nicklaus had a brilliant 66 on the opening round, but didn't break 70 again. On the final round he missed six times from three feet or less, including a six-footer before a national television audience on the 17th hole. It led to a one-over-par count that set up the second playoff in as many weeks.

1. BIRTHS

Monday's child is full of grace;
Tuesday's child is full of grace;
Wednesday's child is full of grace;
Thursday's child has far to go;
Friday's child is loving and giving;
Saturday's child works hard for a living;
And the child that is born on the Sabbath Day,
Is fair and wise, and good, and gay.
Children hearing these verses by Countess
Cullen always want to know which day of the week was their birth date. A

Hobbies, Golf And Girls, But Senator Explains

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Edward Lawson doesn't look like a senator. He doesn't look like an international vice-president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters either.

As a senator, the Vancouver man looks too young. When he was appointed to the upper chamber last year, British Colum-bians joked that his 42 years would reduce the average age there to 84 from 65 years.

As a senior official of an international union with a hard-boiled, independent reputation, his appearance is even more disappointing. His fea-tures, combined with a pom-padour hair style, seem capable of nothing more threaten-ing than an impish grin.

No big cigars. No goons. No fast women, as he was quick to insist when it was pointed out that his biography lists "gold and girls" as his hob-bies. The girls, he maintains, are his three daughters.

But Senator Lawson is pre-pared to argue that the im-ages are misleading.

He himself was surprised when he arrived in Ottawa, a sample of a new, somewhat younger, image for the senate.

"The Senate is a very hard-working body," he said in an interview. "I have trouble keeping up."

IMAGE UNBALANCED

He also insists that the Teamster image established during the 1950s and later in the United States for violence and corruption is completely unbalanced. Dave Beck and James Hoffa, former American leaders, were convicted and sentenced to prison.

"We have as good a record for integrity as any institution in society, including the church," he said.

"It's safe to say that a few bank managers embezzle more money in a five-year period than has been embezzled by union officials in the entire history of the labor move-ment."

All this is not to imply that the Teamsters, for instance, have decided suddenly to lie down like lambs. Or that Senator Lawson is ignorant of the angles that labor traditionally has felt it must play to advance its interests.

"Ed Lawson would bargain with the Devil if he thought he could get a deal," says Ray Haynes, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

OUTSIDE CLC

The mixed feelings of union leaders who knew Senator Lawson during his rise through the West Coast hierarchy of the Teamsters is per-haps understandable. It owes something to the fact that the Teamsters operate outside either the Canadian Labor Con-gress or its U.S. counterpart.

The Teamsters have co-operated with the federation, a CLC affiliate, in several dis-putes. Senator Lawson pays lip service at least to the concept that the house of labor should be united.

What rankle are such things as the union's claim that since being ejected from the CLC early in the 1960s, it has been able to expand its headquar-ters with the money saved from paying CLC dues.

The B.C. federation also tended to be unsympathetic when B.C. Teamsters broke with a 1970 labor boycott of the province's mediation com-mission. Instead, the union order to appear before the submitted to a government commission rather than strike in a dispute.

Senator Lawson's position is that the union should not break the law and defy the government without first giving the commission a trial.

ASK FEDERAL RIGHTS

He was rueful when the commission ruled against a key demand. In response, Teamster locals in B.C. now are applying in large numbers to obtain federal certification rights rather than operate under provincial law.

The move exploits a philo-sophical gap in the approach to labor issues by the federal and B.C. governments. Sena-tor Lawson described it merely as "our alternative to having Bennett (B.C. Premier W. A. C. Bennett) beat our brains out."

Perhaps it is the emphasis he puts on playing the labor-management game within the rules that also sets him apart from the stereotype of the labor boss.

He is by no means unique among labor leaders in re-specting the law, of course. And he indicates that he too feels a wise government would change the laws to make it easier for unions to organize new members.

But he dwells less mourn-fully than many on the wounds labor feels it has suffered at the hands of unsympathetic governments.

MADE MISTAKE

He describes himself as a political independent.

He believes the Canadian labor movement made a serious mistake in allying itself formally with the New Demo-cratic Party in 1961.

"It's an alliance that's been to the disadvantage of both the labor movement and that party," he said.

A similar shade of differ-ence is apparent in his atti-tude to those who argue that U.S.-based international unions are a threat to Canada's economic independence.

The issue is one which many representatives of inter-national unions in Canada prefer to side-step. Even the senator admits that the Teamsters have had to be mindful of the nationalists.

"There are a number of made-in-Canada unions that are making gains on a flag-waving basis alone."

KEEP THEIR MONEY

But he doesn't hedge about the nature of the Teamsters, which has 60,000 members in Canada and nearly two mil-lion in the U.S.

Nationally is observed to the point that money collected from the Canadian members is held in Canadian banks. Most other international union funds pass to U.S. headquar-ters for keeping.

But for organizational pur-poses "the border is just an imaginary line."

The benefits of the arrange-ment, he contends, are almost all in the Canadians' favor.

As an example, he stated that U.S. Teamsters pour more than $300,000 into Cana-da annually to finance orga-nization campaigns.

He also believes his election to the international executive at a full convention of the Teamsters in 1971 is an indi-cation that Canadian union members can have an influ-ence far out of proportion to their numbers.

Tough Trek Starts Tuesday

PANAMA (AP) — A British army expedition aiming to reach the tip of South America over the Pan American High-way starts out Tuesday on the toughest part of its journey.

With two Range Rovers, 35 pack horses, 59 men and five women, the team will attempt to make the first wheeled cross-ing of the Darien Gap into Co-lombia—a 250-mile journey through jungles, swamps and mountains.

The Darien Gap is a planned part of the Pan American High-way.

Leaders say the terrain is so tough that the expedition is not expected to advance more than three miles a day.

Of the women in the expedi-tion, all civilians, three will re-main behind doing liaison work and the other two will trek through the jungle with the rest of the group to do secretarial work for the scientists in the expedition.

In command is Maj. John Balshford-Snell of the Royal Engineers.

EXPLORED NILE

At 34 he is an experienced explorer who has participated in 10 previous expeditions, includ-ing the first descent and explo-ration of the Blue Nile in Ethio-pia.

The scientists plan to collect data before the ecology of the area is disturbed by construc-tion of the Darien Highway, about to begin. The road, fi-nanced by the U.S., Panama and Colombia, is expected to be finished in about five years.

Along the way, the expedition will be supplied by parachute, helicopter and boat and will keep radio contact with its rear base.

The crossing of the Darien Gap is expected to take until the end of March. Once the Colombian side is reached, the crews will drive south on the final leg to Tierra del Fuego, at the tip of the continent, to com-plete the 14,000-mile journey.

Women Raped By Soldiers Ostracized

GENEVA (AP) — About 200,000 Bengali wives who were raped by Pakistani soldiers during the war are now ostracized by the Moslem communities and have virtually no place to turn to, a church relief official re-ported today.

Returning from Dacca, Rev. Kentaro Buma told a news con-ference that by tradition no Moslem husband will take back a wife touched by another man, even if she was subdued by force.

"The new authorities of Bang-ladesh are trying their best to break that tradition," he said. "They tell the husbands the women were victims and must be considered national heroines. Some men have taken their spouses back home, but these are very, very few."

Mr. Buma is Asian relief sec-etary of the World Council of Churches.

Mr. Buma who spent nearly two weeks in Bangladesh, said that in addition to those who fled to India, an estimated 20 million Bengalis who lost their homes and all their property have sought refuge in remote areas of Bangladesh.

He said about one-third of the 30,000 primary schools and col-leges were destroyed and vir-tually all the country's cash had been taken back to West Paki-stan.

He said Bangladesh urgently needs baby food, medicine, roof-ing material and about 1.8 mil-lion tons of food and transport facilities to distribute relief.

Injured In Fire

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Barry J. Best was taken to hospital suffering from minor burns and smoke inhalation early Sunday after crawling from his burning apartment.

Mr. Best crawled out of the apartment and reached a fire door before passing out from the smoke. Firemen found him unconscious on the floor.

An unidentified woman and her daughter were taken from the third floor of the building by ladder when they became trapped by the fire. About 20 tenants fled the building during the blaze.

Damage was estimated at $17,000.

SIGN TRADE PACT

OTTAWA (CP) — The signing of a commercial agreement to continue trade regulation be-tween Canada and Venezuela was announced Wednesday by the external affairs department.

The agreement was first signed in 1959 and has been renewed annually since then. It assures Canada a most-favored-nation status in trade with Venezuela.

It also provides for the ex-change of information on trade and investment.

The agreement was signed by External Affairs Minister Joe Clark and Venezuelan Foreign Minister Carlos Ochoa.

The agreement will be in effect for five years.

People Are Still Scared Away From Needed Visit To Dentist

SASKATOON (CP) — "Even if the government came out with a dental plan, only about one-half of the population would want to go to the dentist," says Dr. Isidore Wolch of the department of dentistry at the University of Manitoba.

"It's our reputation," said Dr. Murray Cornish of Toronto, international president of the Alpha Omega Dental Fraternity.

People still are afraid of being hurt by dentists and the profession hasn't managed to overcome this reputation, he said.

Dr. Wolch said only about one-third of Canadians receive decent dental care. The rest wanted only emergency service.

But Canadian dentists are becoming more a part of the over-all public health picture, with increasing emphasis on prevention rather than treatment, the Winnipeg dentist said.

"We finally realized we can't fill all the cavities in the country. So, we go to the schools and educate the kids to brush their teeth regularly and tell them to go to the dentist for check-ups."

Dr. Wolch and Dr. Cornish said "exciting things" are happening in dentistry which would be important to the entire public health program.

Why Do They Look At My Fingernails?

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 54 and had open heart surgery 2½ years ago. The doctors replaced the diseased mitral valve with a mechanical one very well. I am on anticoagulants and have a prothrombin time test taken weekly to determine dosage. I also go for a checkup once a month.

This is my question: Why are the doctors always so interested in the condition of my fingernails? They feel them to see if they are unusually rough or dented, or if there are any spots under them.—Mrs. W. L.

There are lots of reasons for looking at fingernails, some of the reasons applying to you, others not.

The nails will be pale if there is anemia. If they are dusky or faint blue, it indicates the supply of oxygen in the blood is low.

The nails may be rounded like a watch crystal in certain types of lung disease. Spots (called splinters) may occur if there is endocarditis (inflammation of the valve lining in the heart) or if the dosage of anticoagulant is too high.

Condition of the nail and cuticle can reflect your nutritional state—folks with inadequate protein have a tapering, flat cuticle instead of raised.

Not applying to you, of course, nail-biting often reflects an anxiety state.

The color of nails may include a brown stain from excessive tobacco, or other discoloration due to certain drugs, those containing mercury and arsenic among them.

And, of course, the general appearance of the nails can be distorted by skin disorders, psoriasis or others, or exposure to chemicals, etc.

So there are lots of clues to see in a fingernail, and your doctors are interested in any significant information about your health whether directly related to your heart surgery or not.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have an IUD for birth-control purposes and have it removed for cleansing every three to four months.

For some time now there has been a heavy yellowish to brownish secretion, and although I douche, a strong odor remains.

I asked the doctor about the cause and the only answer I received was that it sometimes occurs with this device and nothing can be done about it. I wonder if there is any other reason for this.—Mrs. L. W.

It doesn't always happen, of course—but irritation and infection can occur when an IUD is in place. When the problem is as persistent as yours, the best thing is to abandon it and use some other form of contraception.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am having a problem with milk. I like it, but a glass of it will give me the runs, even a little in coffee. I have had a lot of it all my life but now it disagrees with me. Why? What can I do about it as all our bodies need milk?—L. H.

You've evidently developed a sensitivity to milk, which can happen even though you've been drinking it all your life. Only solution is to stop using it.

We all need things that are contained in a milk—protein, protein, and smaller amounts of other useful items—but fortunately you can get them from other sources, too.

Note to E. E. B.: There is no evidence that hormones cause cancer, although in some types, certain hormones can stimulate growth of a cancer that already exists. As a matter of fact, in some other cases, hormones are used to treat cancer. Your friend is misinformed.

Opening lead—jack of spades. Here is a remarkable hand played in a team of four championships. Hero of the deal was Bill Williams, a California star, who held the East cards.

West led a spade against three notrump. Declarer won the jack with the queen and played the king of hearts, which held, then the queen, which also held the trick.

South then shifted his attention to clubs, playing the K-Q, and McWilliams again ducked twice.

Now declarer played the queen of diamonds, and for the fifth successive time East refused the trick.

South was now at the end of his rope. He had to lose a spade, a heart, two diamonds and a club to go down one. Had McWilliams taken any one of the five tricks he refused, South would have made the contract.

Certainly this is one of the most extreme cases on record of the power and effectiveness of a holdup play. It is not often that a player rejects a trick five times in a row—in three different suits—and gains as a result.

Actually, McWilliams knew every high card in declarer's hand as soon as dummy came down, because South's two notrump bid had represented 21 or 22 points. Furthermore, he had to assume that declarer's only four-card suit was in spades, for otherwise the contract could not be stopped.

In effect, all that McWilliams had to do to beat the contract was exercise extreme patience and hold up his aces as long as he possibly could.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, JAN. 18

Aries (March 21-April 19): Knowing where to apply your self is half the battle. Your associates and family likewise are apt to distinguish themselves now.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): This should be one of your more prosperous days, and if not, you could try to figure out what you're doing that reflects unconsciously on your daily living.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Novelty abounds in profusion on all sides today; some overt, some subtly hidden under familiar surfaces. Anything you will attract minor dissent, but don't let it disconcert you—go ahead.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Good humor comes easily and smooths the way for many more enjoyments. Have a care on what you choose to invest your time and energy.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Collect others of like mind and consider whether you can act together with greater effectiveness, or at least explore your differences.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Brighten up, wear your most elegant attire and search for a better state of affairs. There's much you can change now.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Reach out to meet your peers and colleagues to build a better career and social position for yourself. Strangers offer attractive proposals.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A speculative venture shows signs of life. Round up details, neglected routines. Adjourn business at the earliest feasible time.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be a spectator, watch events develop for your friends, until you're asked to help.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your week's action plan picks up momentum. Share your favorite hobbies with like-minded friends and perhaps a new acquaintance in leisure time.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Try out your pet ideas, new short cuts, with special attention to unanticipated side effects.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Your cheerful mood should prevail over petty quibbling.

you create for yourself benefits and the resistance to stresses from external sources. It's up to you to override temptations to take the easy way out this year. Today's natives tend to thrive better in their own business enterprises.

Horse Vaccine Set For Use

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal program to keep Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis out of Canada will be bolstered this year by making a vaccine available for the first time.

Dr. Ken Wells, veterinary director-general in the agriculture department, Thursday said he did not believe there would be a mass invasion of the disease into Canada next summer.

The disease was confirmed only in Texas last year.

"I would be surprised if VEE hits the northern states in epidemic proportions in 1972," said Dr. Wells.

However, "it would not be realistic to shut our eyes and assume the disease won't be coming," he added. The vaccine, now used extensively in the U.S., will be available in Canada in the spring.

In Vancouver Tuesday, veterinarian Dr. John Gilray said that only cold weather has prevented the disease from reaching Canada and the country's last defence against it will end in the spring.

This year "it will probably reach the Arctic Circle," Dr. Gilray, chairman of veterinary meetings at the National Association of Canadian Race Tracks convention, said in the group's report.

BENSON IN ISRAEL
TEL AVIV (Reuter) — Finance Minister E. J. Benson of Canada arrived Sunday for a week's visit to Israel at the invitation of the ministries of finance and of foreign affairs. Benson will meet Israel's financial and economic leaders and will tour the country.

SHEAR 1,261 SHEEP
NEW PLYMOUTH, N.Z. (Reuter) — Five women cracked an almost exclusively male profession Saturday night and claimed a world record by shearing 1,261 sheep in nine hours. The shearing marathon was checked by three judges appointed by the Golden Shears International Shearing Championship Society.

BALD REVOLUTION
BEIRUT (AP) — Long hair is not revolutionary in the Palestinian Arab guerrillas have decided. They are rounding up shaggy teen-agers in refugee camps and shaving them bald. "This unmanly habit of growing long hair is rapidly catching up with our youth," said a guerrilla spokesman. "It's very unrevolutionary and doesn't become people fighting for a cause."

U.S. YOUTH DOUBLES
WASHINGTON (AP) — The census bureau says the number of young people in the U.S. population increased by 53 per cent in the last decade. Youth, or that segment of the population between 14 and 24 years old, grew to 41.6 from 27.1 million, the bureau said Sunday.

HOISTED HER CAR
BASEL, Switzerland (Reuter) — A pretty blonde German tourist parked her car on a building site before sightseeing in Basel. When she returned she found it sitting on top of an eight-storey building. Laughing workmen told her they had hoisted it up by crane to save her a parking fine.

LOVE BACKFIRES
PALERMO, Sicily (Reuter) — Fifteen-year-old Angela Carcione, broken-hearted when his 13-year-old girl-friend refused to marry him, poured gasoline over himself and set it ablaze Sunday. But a relative put out the flames and saved his life.

18 DIE IN CRASH
LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Eighteen persons were killed when the truck in which they were travelling from Ibadan in the Western state overturned and plunged into a ditch, it was reported Sunday.

Stocks Move Slower

NEW YORK (AP) — New York stock market prices backed down a little last week. The pace of trading was not as brisk as in the previous week. The blue chip signal—the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials—in the previous week had pushed through the 900 mark, reaching 910.37. But last week it sagged several times, finally closing at 906.8, off 3.59 from the preceding Friday.

That still left it well above the 1971 low of 797.97, reached last Nov. 23. Many market analysts viewed the week's action as normal and long anticipated. A. Gary Schilling of Estabrook and Co. said: "I think there's a general correction here, which of course has been expected on a technical basis, the market having come up very rapidly since Thanksgiving (Nov. 25). My guess is that the market is undergoing an intermediate term correction."

VOLUME DOWN
The volume of trading on the New York Stock Exchange was 85.6 million shares compared with 87.34 million in 1971's first week. The largest daily turnover came Wednesday when 20.87 million shares changed hands. In the absence of any major economic news, the market lacked direction, and brokers reported many investors were standing by to watch for clues to the next trend.

Monday and Tuesday the big board resisted profit-taking to register some moderate gains. But Wednesday there was a softening in the market as heavy trading washed out some early gains. A strong minus sign was widely scattered. Friday, there were minor losses during most of the day, but the market closed with a small gain.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .6 to 332.0 during the week. Standard and Poor's 500-stock index was down .08 to 103.39.

There were 1,905 issues bought and sold on the big board, with 994 advances and 732 declines.

HIT NEW HIGHS
New yearly highs were achieved by 183 stocks, and eight issues sagged to yearly lows.

The NYSE index of about 1,300 stocks was up .01 to 57.22. Of the week's 25 most-active stocks 18 advanced, six declined and one was unchanged.

The five most-active issues on the New York Stock Exchange were American Telephone and Telegraph, up 1 to $47 1/2; Fannie Mae, when issued, up 1/4 to $26 1/2; Crown Cork, up 1/4 to $20 1/2; Ampex, down 3/4 to $11 1/2; and Whitaker, up 1/4 to $11 1/2.

The five most-active issues on the American Stock Exchange were Oak Airlines, up 1/4 to $10 1/2; Texas Laboratories, up 1/4 to $16; Hamilton Continental, up 1/4 to $17 1/2; Champion Home Builders, up 1/4 to $49 1/2; and Austral Oil, up 1/4 to $20 1/2.
